

EMERGENCY MANAGEMENT PLANNING SERVICES

Is your organization prepared to respond to the wide range of risk events that could impact its operations, people and resources?

From active assailant situations to natural disasters and every scenario in between, emergency situations are an unfortunate reality that every organization must identify, prepare for and continually reassess. Emergency management planning can help ensure your organization is prepared for when the unexpected strikes through a variety of training exercises.

No one can predict when a tragedy will occur, but preparation is a crucial step in how you will respond. Proper preparation can help to ensure that your operations and employees are provided with the support, guidance and means to overcome emergency events.

SISCO risk consultants have extensive experience helping organizations prepare for the unthinkable.

Our emergency planning services include:

Emergency Plan Review & Development

Whether you have a plan that needs a critical review or assistance in developing your emergency management plan, SISCO consultants can help ensure you have an effective and comprehensive plan for foreseeable emergencies.

Tabletop Exercises

SISCO consultants develop, facilitate and assess tabletop exercises to test your emergency management plan and your team's response actions to simulated crises.

Hazard & Vulnerability Assessments

We can conduct assessments of your building(s) or campus to identify vulnerabilities to hazardous events while providing recommendations to reduce the vulnerabilities.

Functional Drills (evacuation or shelter-in-place)

Our team can plan, coordinate and assess functional drills involving evacuation, sheltering-in-place or barricading during simulated crises.

Business Continuity & Disaster Recovery Plan Review & Development

SISCO consultants can critique or assist in developing effective and comprehensive plans to maintain your business operations during a crisis event and to recover from the event as quickly and completely as possible.

Active Assailant Interactive Workshops

Regardless of your industry, we can train your employees in how to respond to an active assailant using an interactive training program with insightful prevention and preparation tools as well as hands-on demonstrations of response actions.
